Graduate Programs in English Language and LiteratureIntroduction

The main emphasis of our graduate program in English Language and Literature is on the study of British and American literature and other literatures of the English-speaking world, English linguistics, and British and American studies.

We study literature from a variety of perspectives and with a variety of methodologies. Furthermore, the student is continually encouraged to broaden her interests in other interdisciplinary spheres.

Our program is designed to aid each student in developing her powers of critical, independent thought, and to equip her with the knowledge and insight necessary to transmit her own culture to the world community.
